file name: muminnanokore.jpg – "Is this really Moomin!?"

I'm really sorry to have kept you all waiting for such a long time!
I plan to continue the Halloween event for a short period starting on 2nd November and also post up this year's Halloween costumes

I'm only going to wrap things up with a little extra on the side so this year I will be drawing and posting requests at my normal update pace.

But since I'd feel left out if I don't do anything on 31st, I plan to post a comic strip that I've done previously but it's a serious story that's not festive at all

Thank you for all your comments and fun news! The world is such an interesting place!

> So is Persia san kinda a grandpa too?

That's right, just like Grandpa Rome he also has grandchildren and adopted children.

> Anicetus who looks a bit like Japan is he taller than Japan?

The average height in Ancient Rome depending on the era is about 160 170cm. During Nero's time in the Pompeii region male's average height is about 168-170cm And it's said that Nero's height is about average so in the manga he's a bit shorter – OH MY GOD NO WHAT HAVE I DONE!!?

> You might already know this but there's a ranking for the coolest terminology in world history and "Holy Roman Empire" was ranked No 1 Congratulations~

Terms such as "Teutonic Knights" and "Holy Roman Empire" are really cool so you tend to remember them really quickly